REAPS Code of Ethics

Mission Statement – the purpose of the Real Estate Investor’s Association of Puget Sound is to provide education, information and networking to further its member’s real estate investment goals.

To further develop and bring life to our mission, all members of REAPS agree to hold themselves to a high standard of ethical behavior which includes, but is not limited to, the following list of beliefs:

As an organization:

- We understand that all aspects of the Real Estate Profession are represented within our membership. This consequently makes us ambassadors to the industry and within the community; therefore we will conduct business in a straightforward and honest manner.
- We shall not discriminate against any person with regard to race, color, religion, age, national origin, sex, handicap or familial status.
- We will provide assistance to fellow REAPS members whenever prudent and appropriate and encourage others to do the same.

As an individual:

- I shall engage in legal and ethical practices and always conduct business in a professional manner.
- I shall not knowingly make promises I am unable or unwilling to keep and I shall endeavor to keep the promises I make.
- I shall exercise due diligence in all my business affairs.
- I will keep myself up to date with local, state and federal laws and stay informed on matters affecting housing and my community.
- I shall act as a positive role model for our industry when dealing with tenants, the public, the media, government officials, and all others.

I agree to abide by the principles in this code of ethics, and I understand that my membership in REAPS and the ability to use REAPS-sponsored designations is contingent upon adherence to this code of ethics.

By signing this Code of Ethics and agreeing to be bound by its stated principles, you may use the "REAPS COE" Logo in your business, on your business cards and in other dealings with the public.
